The Core Portfolio introduces solutions that benefit both IT managers and employees. The portfolio supports the broadest roles within any business organization. From financial analysts to marketing experts, these employees require high-quality tools to enhance productivity and facilitate collaboration. By upgrading their essential tools, employees are able to work more efficiently and productively and engage better during video calls.

CORE PROFESSIONALS

Knowledge workers who require well-equipped workstations for frequent collaboration and enhanced productivity. Technologies need to be easy for them to learn and apply to work.

Key Challenges:

- Inefficient tools lack flexibility and are not easily customizable to meet user needs.
- Advanced tools and technology require a longer learning curve, which can slow productivity and create frustrating user experiences.
- Basic traditional computer peripherals made for business offer limited benefits and improvements to the employee experience.

- ✓ Simple yet powerful: The Logitech Core portfolio of products is designed with simplicity in mind so employees can put them to use with minimal effort and learning.
- ✓ Designed for today, upgrade for everyone: Logitech brings modern design and improved comfort to employees' desks.
